ABSTRACT

Designed to serve as a guide for instructors and students who would like to introduce a multicultural perspective into their area of study, this bibliography lists books and periodicals that are part of the library collection at Sacramento City College (SCC) in California. Materials are listed that focus on the contributions, experiences, and challenges of African Americans, Asian Americans, Hispanic Americans, and Native Americans. Bibliographic records are displayed alphabetically by title within the following categories: (1) general reference sources; (2) allied health; (3) behavioral and social sciences; (4) business; (5) humanities and fine arts; (6) languages and literature; (7) learning resources; (8) occupational technology; (9) physical education/health/athletics; (10) science/math/engineering; and (11) journals and magazines. Within behavioral and social sciences, humanities and fine arts, and languages and literature, subdivisions are provided for each of the four ethnic groups. Each bibliographic record includes the work's title and author, as well as its SCC call number. (MAB)

Introduction

The purpose of this bibliography is to provide a tool that enables instructors and students to introduce a multicultural perspective into their subject area. For each division there are books listed which highlight the contributions, experience, and challenges of Afro-Americans, Asian Americans, Hispanic Americans and Native Americans.

This list is not comprehensive, and not every title will be of interest to every instructor or student. It is meant to provide some interesting examples and a convenient starting place for research and discussion.

If there are titles that you would like listed, please let me know so that I can include them as the bibliography is updated.

It is my sincere wish that this work will contribute to an appreciation and understanding of our uniqueness as individuals while helping us to seek out and celebrate our similarities with one another.

Myra K. Borg

This work is dedicated to the students of Sacramento City College in appreciation for all that they have taught me.
